

Editorial

We started the year 2019 with “Call for Papers” for publishing our 5th edition of Assumption University-eJournal of Interdisciplinary Research (AU-eJIR). Surprisingly, the response has been quite overwhelming. We received more than 15 papers from across the world. It is very heartening to note that we received papers from various countries. Few research papers included in this edition of eJIR-2019 (Vol.5, Issue-1) are driven by comprehensive data analytics; others are based on various scientific and social issues. This new edition contains selected research and academic papers covering various interdisciplinary domains.

I am pleased to inform our patrons that we have moved our publication on the Open Journal System (OJS). Due to this migration, we have been facing few difficulties resulting in the delay in the publication of eJIR 5.1. But the system is up and running now. In this new edition, each paper is provided with an Abstract, and a downloadable Adobe PDF file. To open and read your paper you must have an updated version of Adobe Acrobat Reader. You can download a free version of PDF reader from Adobe Website. You can now directly submit your paper on the OJS platform or send it to us via email to- ejir@au.edu

I must remind our contributors and readers that we do not charge any fee for publication. We select a limited number of papers based on their significance and overall quality.

I am very indebted to Rev. Brother Bancha Saenghiran, PhD, President, Assumption University for his blessings for the successful publishing of AU-eJournal of Interdisciplinary Research (AU-eJIR for the last 5 years. I am also thankful to Dr. Chanintorn Jittawiriya Nukoon, our Dean for his unflinching support. I am sure that the next edition of eJIR to be published in July 2020 will have many more interesting papers from around the world. Please download the new guideline for submitting your paper for the next edition of eJIR. The due date for submission for the next edition is June 14, 2020. A very Happy New Year 2020 to all of you and your loved ones.

Kuldeep Nagi, PhD
Fulbright Fellow (USA)
Assistant Professor
Managing Editor- eJIR

✉ ejir@au.edu

DECEMBER 30, 2019